HP Wealth Management (HPWM), a distinguished name in independent wealth management in Singapore, has marked its 15th anniversary with a significant contribution to the environment.

The firm has planted 15 trees along the Ulu Pandan Park Connector, aligning their celebrations with Singapore's ambitious "One million trees" initiative. This eco-friendly gesture underscores HPWM's commitment to sustainability and community involvement.

Founded in 2009 by Urs Brutsch, HPWM has grown into a trusted advisor for high-net-worth individuals and families, offering services like discretionary investment management, family office services, and investment advisory. Over the years, HPWM has consistently focused on delivering tailored financial solutions with a transparent fee structure, ensuring their clients' interests are at the forefront of their operations.

Hubbis is grateful for our longstanding relationship with HPWM, and we extend hearty congratulations for reaching such an incredible milestone, and we look forward to continuing our collaboration with HPWM.

And for those interested, the "One million trees" initiative is part of Singapore's efforts to enhance greenery and biodiversity in urban areas, making the city more liveable and climate-resilient. By participating in this initiative, HPWM not only commemorates its past achievements but also plants seeds for future growth and sustainability.
